Suggested Uses

These templates can be used in the drafting or final publication stage of writing. If used in the drafting stage, students can use the template to get a general idea of the shape. They can then write their final copy without image borders or lines and create a more "authentic" concrete poem on a separate sheet of paper. Younger students may better benefit from using these templates in their final drafts because the templates will provide lines and the confines of the shapes while they write their concrete poems.
